

Oh how romantic! I love steam engines. It must be so much fun. I've always wanted to do that, you're so lucky.....

Yeah!like....yeah

Well, when I was a teenager, I was willing.

Are you willing now? Take the test. Give yourself marks out of ten.

If somebody asks me to get up at 5 in the morning, I leap enthusiastically out of bed
I don't mind arriving early and staying late
I cheerfully turn up to outdoor things even if it's pouring with rain
I will do something I said I'd do even if something more exciting turns up on the same day
I'm happy to spend the day standing in an oily puddle shovelling ash out of a hole in the ground while other people get to ride on the engine
I don't mind getting absolutely totally filthy
I'm quite happy to spend the day dragging wooden pallets around
I'm happy to spend time learning a long, complicated rule book while other people hang out with their mates or play cool computer games
I don't mind having to pass even more tests and exams when I'm not at school

If you scored at least 7/10 on every question, you're probably willing

